Dear Dr Robinson

Your courteous letter received some days ago, but I have been prevented from answering promptly on account of a disabled arm,
I having been thinking how I could help out in this emergency, for we have taken the Presbyterian for many years. and greatly enjoy its perusal,
Since my dear husbands death, I have been much handicapped, and have been helped myself, so with a heart-ache, I am not able to help any one, financially. Hope many can come to your rescue.

Sincerely
Jessie N. Yereance

Dear Mrs. Yereance:

I received your letter dated yesterday and I want to thank you for it. I knew you and your husband in other days and appreciated your great loyalty to the Faith. Perhaps you recall me. Like all religious papers and like business generally we are sailing in choppy seas but the appeal I sent has had two or three responses and we are hoping to go on. Our trouble is that many generous givers find themselves unable to help this year. Accept my sincere thanks.

Yours very sincerely,
